

Combine ski and city with a stopover in Geneva!

London, 11 January 2023: Snow shortages may have been putting a question mark over ski trips, but rather than cancelling your trip, why not make the most of what snow there is on the slopes for a couple of days, before heading down to Geneva to round off your wintery break in the right way!

As Europe's leading city break destination, Geneva is a fantastic stopover for some post-ski R&R. Ideally located a stone's throw away from the iconic Alps, and acting as a flight hub for UK skiers, there really is nowhere better for a well-deserved break to freshen up before flying home to the UK.

Unwind with the ultimate wellness experience

Geneva is a veritable hotspot for spa and wellness experiences. With a spa to suit every taste, you will be sure to find the perfect place to relax.

For those seeking a bit of post-ski muscle therapy, Bain-Bleu Hammam & Spa Genève Plage is the place to go. This wellness bubble is ideally located right by the famous Lake Geneva, offering spectacular views across the serene lake, perfect for putting you in a relaxed mindset. Bain-Bleu utilises a 360-degree approach to wellness, offering an ideal destination for all your muscle therapy needs. The spa has 3,000sqm of indoor and outdoor aquatic facilities, including pools, steam rooms, an oriental-inspired hammam, and a dedicated spa. Immerse yourself in the ultimate wellness experience at Bain-Bleu!

Indulge in an essential chocolate discovery journey

After all that skiing, you'll want to refuel with some tasty treats. Geneva is the perfect place for it, especially if you treat yourself to Geneva Tourism's indulgent Choco Pass.

Explore Geneva's rich chocolate-making history with this exciting tour, offering access to seven of the city's most renowned chocolatiers in a 24-hour period. Each participating chocolatier offers a different speciality for you to try, from Stettler's famous pavé de Genève to Sweetzerland's tasty truffles. What better way to top up your energy levels is there than to enjoy everyone's favourite sweet treat in the chocolate capital of the world?

Explore the very best Alpine dining delights

Transport yourself back to the slopes with a visit to The Alpine Terrace at the iconic Beau Rivage hotel. Real gondolas await you on the terrace of the hotel, taking you on a journey through the slopes of the most spectacular ski resorts. You'll soon forget about the lack of snow on the Alps as you embark on a taste journey through the region with their delicious Alpine menu, featuring three different types of fondue and a selection of irresistible desserts.

If you're in Geneva before 05 February, then head to the Ice Bar, where you'll also have the chance to cosy up in an authentic mountain chalet in the heart of Carouge, Geneva's bohemian enclave. This lovely pop-up restaurant is right next to the city's ice rink, so it's the perfect stop-off if you want to enjoy a delicious meal next to a roaring fire to warm up after a spot of ice skating. It doesn't get much more wintery than this!

Enjoy a spectacular light show at the Geneva Lux Festival

If you're looking for a lovely winter's activity to enjoy in the evenings, then be sure to pay the Geneva Lux Festival a visit.

Running from Friday 27 January to Sunday 05 February 2023, the Geneva Lux Festival presents "works of light", created especially for the occasion by artists from across the world. Embark on a guided tour or explore the festival's magical vibe on your own — whatever you choose, it will be sure to take their breath away.

With brilliant connections to the Alps, and only a couple of hours from Chamonix, Zermatt and the Three Valley resorts, Geneva truly is the perfect destination for a ski stopover.
