

Witness Europe's most spectacular drone show this spring with Geneva Tourism

London, 11 May 2023: This spring, Geneva Tourism invites you to experience the largest drone show in Europe, which will see 1,300 illuminated drones light up the night sky over the iconic Lake Geneva. In celebration of Ascension Day weekend, Feu Ô Lac will be taking place over three consecutive evenings, from Thursday 18 to Sunday 21 May, and will be complemented by light effects surrounding the inimitable Jet d'Eau and Neptune sailing boat.

The performances will include an array of stunning colours and 3D formations, and will be just one of the unmissable events available to attend for free over the wider weekend-long festival. With a wide range of entertainment and experiences held over the three days, the festival will host local bands and DJs, in addition to two major concerts taking place on Friday and Saturday evenings, with the latter headlined by Ivorian reggae singer Tiken Jah Fakoly. Dedicated stands will be set up for guests to enjoy local products including Swiss wine and beers, while food trucks will be dotted around the festival serving up a wide range of delicious street food, catering to all tastes. The city will also be putting on a number of sporting activities, such as an extensive dance programme, paddle races, and a tennis village with two mini courts set up in partnership with The Gonet Open.

During your visit to Geneva, why not experience the best of Europe's leading city break destination with a Geneva City Pass. Available for 24, 48, or 72 hours, the city is yours to explore, with free or discounted access to over 55 attractions, all accessible by free public transport. Whether you take in the most beautiful aspects of Geneva at sunset with a sunset tour, test yourself with wild swimming at Geneva Beach, immerse yourself in contemporary art at the MAMCO, or even try your hand at canoe rafting down the Rhone – the opportunities are endless.

Offering a range of activities for the whole family to enjoy, the Feu Ô Lac promises a truly festive atmosphere and plenty of captivating entertainment for all ages.
